UT Tyler Industrial Management Graduates Average Salaries after 1, 5, and 10 Years

If you can compare other programs in the college and university, it can be seen that the MS in Industrial Management majors fair better than most majors. The MBA initially shows higher salaries, however, undergraduate Industrial Technology and Engineering majors seek an MBA so the data maybe skewed in that respect. As one can see in the table below (retrieved March 2024), the MS in Industrial Management graduates have higher average salaries than MS in Mechanical Engineering, Accounting-MACC, and HRD majors.
