Students will examine theory as well as explore resources to gain knowledge and understanding of how to design and implement instructional strategies in a variety of classroom settings. Topics include assessment, e-learning, emerging technologies, information and visual literacies, and product evaluation.

Student Learning Outcomes:

As a result of this course, you should understand the history and the principles of Instructional Design. Furthermore, you should acquire the principles and practices of instructional design to effectively design your instruction, instructional strategies based on learning theories. Your skills and understandings of instructional design will be enhanced with your new awareness of instructional design models, strategies, diverse learning environments, and assessment skills.

The course will provide you with the knowledge, skills, and attitudes necessary for your teaching and your students' learning. More specifically, and in keeping with 2016 U.S. National Education Technology Standards and the 2008 National Educational Technology Standards (NETS) recommended by the International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE), by the end of the course you will better be able to:

LO1: Use technology to facilitate and inspire student learning and creativity (INTASC Principles: 2, 4, 6)

LO2: Design and develop digital-age learning experiences and assessments (INTASC Principles: 1,3, 6, 7, 8)

LO3: Demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to design conditions for learning by applying principles of instructional systems design, message design, instructional strategies, and learner characteristics (AECT Standard 1)

LO4: Demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to develop instructional materials and experiences using print, audiovisual, computer-based, and integrated technologies (AECT Standard 2)

LO5: Demonstrate knowledge, skills, and dispositions to evaluate the adequacy of instruction and learning by applying principles of problem analysis, criterion-referenced measurement, formative and summative evaluation, and long-range planning (AECT Standard 5)

Evaluation and Grading:

- Attendance and Participation (Discussion board) 20%
- Quizzes 20%
- Projects 30%
- Coding Project 10%
- Final Design Document 20%
