COURSE POLICIES

Act professionally, respectful, and with honor. You represent the teaching profession. You never get to “stop” being a teacher to be a student, a parent, etc. You are ALWAYS a teacher and represent the teaching profession.

Email/Canvas Announcements: You will be notified at various times/dates during the semester with needed information. It is very important and your responsibility to check your UT Tyler email, the Education Clinical Experiences Organization and the EDUC 4357 Canvas on a regular basis. Your UT Tyler email should be checked daily.

Attendance: You are required to attend ALL seminar sessions. There are no “excused” absences from student teaching seminar. You will be required to make up all absences in clinical teaching seminar. If something does come up that will cause you to miss seminar, you must contact me immediately. If you have a question, please contact me. If you are ever going to miss clinical teaching, you must notify your university field supervisor and cooperating teacher in advance.

Absences in Clinical Teaching: Consistent attendance in clinical teaching is paramount to your success as a clinical teacher and in obtaining a teaching position. If you miss a total of five (5) days you will be removed from clinical teaching for the semester and will have to repeat clinical teaching in a future semester. If there is an exceptional circumstance that would require you to miss more than five (5) days, you need to immediately contact Mrs. Sherman. There are NO excused absences from clinical teaching, any absence must be made up after the end of the clinical teaching semester and only in half day or whole day.

Academic Etiquette: Please be sure to silence your cell phone and other communication devices and use them as appropriate during class or when requested by the instructor. It is critical to maintain a respectful teaching and learning environment that is conducive to collaboration, cooperation, and learning. To do so, we must demonstrate courtesy to one another and to speakers and presenters in our class. Talking to one’s neighbors, chronic lateness, and leaving class early are inherently disruptive and thus, adversely affecting the rights of others to learn. Therefore, it is unacceptable.

All work must be submitted by the due dates indicated by your instructor, your supervisor, and/or your cooperating teacher. Assignments will be graded in person on Monday evenings, they will be corrected while you are in the classroom. Only two assignments will be graded at one time. All portfolio assignments must be completed by the end of March.

All written work is expected to be of the highest scholarly level. You are not only representing yourself as a professional educator but also the teaching profession, the School of Education at The University of Texas at Tyler, your school, and the school district in which you are clinical teaching.

You want to be very careful of errors in spelling, grammar, punctuation, and word choice as poor choices will result in an unsatisfactory grade. In addition, as a teacher you will be observed by your students, administration, peers, and the parents and community. Thus, you are expected to model high quality work at all times, including all of your writing opportunities – notes on papers, notes sent to parents, email, etc. For this reason, all written materials should reflect the highest possible standards.

If you want assistance in improving your writing, please consider using The Writing Center. The Writing Center (<http://www.uttyler.edu/writingcenter>) provides professional writing tutoring for all students in all disciplines. For appointments, call 903.565.5995. You may also come to me for assistance if you would like.

Participation: You are expected to demonstrate the highest level of professionalism in your class participation as judged by your instructor’s expectations. The highest level of participation means you often contribute constructive comments and questions that expand and enrich our class discussions and activities. Participation does not include long conversations that are off-track, self-focused, or distract from presentations, discussions, etc.

Plagiarism and/or Collusion: Submission of another's work as one's own, unauthorized collaboration with another in preparing academic assignments offered for credit, or a violation of any section of the rules on scholastic dishonesty will result in a failing grade (NC) for the semester. Remember when planning lessons and activities, give credit for ideas obtained online or from others. Later in this syllabus is a clear description of plagiarism and/or collusion.
