Syllabus – Spring 2025 – PSYC 3370 – Psychology of Close Relationships MWF 11:15am – 12:10pm HPR 262

Instructor Information: Kristie Allen, M.A.

Hello! My name is Kristie Allen. I serve as a lecturer for the Department of Psychology and Counseling. I graduated from Grand Valley State University (Allendale, MI) with my Bachelors in Psychology and later from UT Tyler with my Masters in Clinical Mental Health Counseling. I am passionate about working with college students to find meaning in their coursework and a greater purpose in their educational journey. Close relationships with romantic partners, friends, and family form the basis of human life. As social animals, we seek out belonging and closeness with others. Such relationships influence our health and well-being across the lifespan. However, maintaining and thriving in close relationships can be a challenging task. I am looking forward to diving into this fascinating topic with you all this semester! The best way to contact me is to send a message through CANVAS. I usually respond to messages within one business day, Monday through Friday. Weekend availability will vary. You can also e- mail me directly at kallen@uttyler.edu or call me at (903) 566-6177.

Each Wednesday, I will be available from 12:30pm-2:30pm in my Office (HPR 214) or via ZOOM for Office Hours.

I am committed to facilitating a learning environment that is equitable, inclusive and welcoming and that fosters a climate of mutual respect and full participation. I expect you all to demonstrate that same level of respect to one another. Please be kind, openminded, and receptive to feedback as that is the best way to ensure you get the most you can out of this class.

Personal Applications & Impact

It is impossible to study Psychology without thinking about our own lived experiences – that would take all the fun out of it! However, some topics we study may not be relevant to your own experiences, and your own experiences may not be consistent with the material presented. This does not mean that the research I present is inaccurate or that your experiences are "wrong". No psychological study will account for every person's experiences. In addition, some of the material in this class may provoke strong feelings about your past experiences or current life. It is a specific goal of this course to make sure you become good consumers of psychological information and sometimes that will mean challenging your own prior beliefs, values, and experiences.

Course Catalog Description:

In this course, students will investigate the formation, maintenance and dissolution of close relationships, with a focus on friendships, familial relationships, and adult romantic relationships. Students will also work to identify factors that promote or interfere with relationship functioning and consider how relationships affect our general health and well-being.

Student Learning Outcomes:

- Students who complete this course will be able to:
- Explain how relationships are associated with human survival, physical health, and mental health.
- Describe the scientific method, different types of research study, and ethical considerations in regard to Relationship Science.
- Define, describe, and apply a broad range of close relationship psychological theories
- Describe what contributes to the formation of friendships, familial relationships, and adult romantic relationships as well as how these relationships are subsequently endured or dissolved over time.

Course Flow – What Can You Expect?

The first 10 minutes of class will be considered an interactive study hall. Because reading is SO important for your success in this course, my expectation is that you will have read before class. However, I want to give you some time to reread and freshen up on the material so you can be active and engaged listeners who have things to contribute to our discussion. This also gives you a little bit of time to get to class and get situated and for me to take attendance.

Minutes 10 through 45 will usually be composed of a lecture (unless noted on the syllabus) and we will leave the last 5 minutes for reflection, burning questions, and any housekeeping items we need to discuss.

Attendance

A 2010 meta-analysis of the relationship between class attendance in college and college grades found that class attendance is a better predictor of college grades than any other known predictor of academic performance (Crede et al., 2010). Much of our learning will happen while working with peers and through our group discussions. These are learning experiences that are almost impossible to make up individually. I will take attendance using Mentimeter each class meeting. You are allowed 4 absences over the course of the semester. There is no need to e-mail me or let me know you will be missing. You will all start out with 20 points (5% of overall grade) in the Canvas gradebook. Once you surpass 4 absences, I will start deducting 5 points for each absence

Important Note – Because I clearly define which days we will be completing in-class activities, I firmly advise against missing any of those days as I will not provide you the opportunity to makeup that work.

Quizzes and Exams:

- Quizzes/Exams will open Wednesdays after class at 12:10pm and will remain open until 11:59pm on Friday evening.
- You may use the OERs, Power Points, notes, but NOT another person. Do not rely on these items exclusively because of the time constraints. You really need to KNOW the material.
- Each quiz is a mixture of 25 questions, true/false and multiple choice. Each exam will be 50 questions, true/false and multiple choice.
- The quizzes are timed at 60 minutes, exams will be timed at 120 minutes.
- Please study as if this was an in-person quiz!
- Please read the section on academic dishonesty. It is not tolerated AT ALL. If cheating is suspected, you will be reported to the Office of Student Affairs

Relationship Focus Group Presentations:

- You will be responsible for splitting off into groups of THREE to complete one 7-minute presentation over the course of the semester. There are SEVEN Relationship Focus Topics (see weekly schedule). Each one of these Focus Topics have 4 peer-reviewed journal articles identified as containing important information pertaining to a comprehensive understanding of. You and your group will sign up to review ONE of these articles for your presentation. Once you have formed a group, chose an article from the master spreadsheet, and follow the steps below.
- Step 1: Each group member should read the article in its entirety.
- Step 2: Your presentation should cover 1) what research question or problem the article addresses; 2) who the participants were and how they were selected; 3) what research methods were used and how the researchers measured what they said they were going to measure; 4) what were the main findings? Don't just spew numbers here! I want to know how this information is valuable to us, scholars of relationship research. 5) what are the main strengths and weaknesses of this study? Do you see any directions for future research in this area?
- PPT At least 48 hours before your presentation, please send me a 1-2 pg. PPT slide to serve as a visual aid. You do not need to write EVERYTHING you are going to say on the slide, but you can definitely use it to guide you.

Academic Dishonesty:

Canvas has tools that shows when/if a student has plagiarized information. It will generate a report once you submit your work and any information matching other sources will be highlighted in a document. I am sure you know that this would be considered to violate our Academic Dishonesty Policy and you will be turned into the Student Affairs office for review. Your work must be original and in your own words. I cannot stress enough; make sure ALL of your work is ORIGINAL. If you aren't sure if the work you are about to submit abides by the academic dishonesty policy of the university) don't submit it. You know if the work you are submitting is completely original. Make sure that you always include in-text citations as well as a Works Cited page in APA format with all of your work. For assistance with APA formatting, you may visit the writing center on campus and find this site to be helpful:

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Spring 2025 Census Date - January 27

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar. (Links to an external site.) Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions that students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a "W, grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).

Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.
